In recent months, Redavia has been increasing the number of solar off-grid projects in companies in Ghana. Just a few weeks ago, the Munich-based company installed a mini off-grid solar power plant for a cold store of Movelle Company, a major Ghanaian trading company specialising in the import of food products.

It is a small solar power plant that has just been installed on the site by German off-grid supplier Redavia. For this project, the German company offered its Solar Carport solution. It is a carport with a roof equipped with solar panels. The solution allows companies like KKTR to optimise their grounds.
